About Stammering: eLearning

Speech and Language Therapy Service

Education, breaking down stigma and raising awareness about stammering are the driving forces behind a new, FREE, innovative eLearning package 'About Stammering'.

The project was created in collaboration with animation and graphics students at Bradford & Hull University. People who stammer in Bradford also contributed ideas, opinions, artwork and most importantly their voices!

All the people speaking in the eLearning stammer, even the cartoon presenter, 'speak the change [they] wish to see'.

The eLearning provides an interactive and visual platform busting myths and highlighting evidence-based facts about stammering. Most importantly, it challenges current negative attitudes and responses to stammering in society, to enable a more stammer friendly world with an engaging, non-judgmental approach.
